A Little History

Born & raised in Greece, Antonia & Steve Sotiropoulos immigrated to America in pursuit of the American Dream. The Year was 1977.

With no formal education & barely able to speak English, Steve & Antonia initially struggled to survive. They found work in a restaurant, doing what they love. Through the subtle international language of food they communicated with ease. They soon saved up enough money to open up their own restaurant, Falmouth House of Pizza, the first House of Pizza in Maine.

With an unwritten business plan of unbending principals to keep recipes authentic & traditional to the Greek culture, the food fresh, the restaurant clean & the prices family friendly, the business grew into a local establishment with deep roots.

In the summer of 2007 after 30 years of excellence, Antonia & Steve opened up their second restaurant, Antonia's Pizzeria in Freeport, ME. To this day, Falmouth House of Pizzeria continues to:

Use olive oil in our pizza crust, make & mix the pizza & spaghetti sauce by hand using 12 different seasonings, prepare, make & cook our meatballs by hand. From the fresh chicken to the fresh sirloin steak, all cleaned & seasoned by hand, we stand by our original plan. This is where we can promise our customers that they will be getting fresh food loaded with flavor.

Is all this work labor intensive? Of course. We will continue to use only the freshest quality ingredients to serve our customers for generations to come.
